YORKTOWN SCENES

Graphically Described by "The Critic" Reporter and Illustrated by "The Critic's" Special Artist.

Having arrived home safely again and rested, the ambassador of THE CRITIC, who "did" the Yorktown Centennial, has had ample opportunity to reflect over some of the amusing incidents of the journey; none more so perhaps than the experience of those who had to live out. There were many such, and they fared badly, fulfilling to the letter the biblical lesson with reference to foxes having holes, while the sons of men had no place wherein to lay their consecrated pilgrim with Yorktown pie. It would have been dangerous, indeed, No one who had

Fastened a Tooth in a Yorktown Pie

could have been base enough to inflict similar diet upon a most bitter enemy.
The Critic made several unsuccessful efforts to relieve the handsome young antagonist's distress, and finally left him, the following lines running through his head:

Oh, for a slice of Washington pie,
So sweet, so gummy and tough,
For there sits a man quite ready to die,
A death most exceedingly rough.

Just one slice will fix him up now:
I'll bid him for even a tart:
Hear the last cantrip he has down,
To THE CRITIC or the man near the cart.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

FROM CAPITOL HILL TO-DAY.

Short and Uninteresting Senate Session--No Treasury Report Yet--A Few Nominations--Facts, Fancies, Scenes and Incidents.

As stated yesterday, both political parties in the Senate are maneuvering for position in the battle to be fought for the secretaryship and other offices of the Senate. Each occupies a position of observation strongly entrenched behind works built of fears of the two generals commanding the reserve dent pro tem, Davis was enjoying a mysterious confab with Senator Belmont. Harrington was just becoming interested, when the Senate, at 12:10 o'clock, went into Executive session.

Is the Treasury Report Being Doc-torized?

Disappointment was depicted on the face of each Democratic Senator to-day when it was learned that the report of the Treasury investigating committee had not arrived.
Inquiry at the Treasury Department developed the fact that the report was being arranged for transmission, but it was feared that it would not be ready to reach the Senate before that body adjourned to-day.

A reporter of THE CRITIC was reliably informed that the principal features of the report would be general statements from Assistant Secretary Upton and Chief Clerk Power, in which they would cover the facts of crookedness unearthed generally, and further add that when Mr. Pitney was called on for an explanation of the peculiar condition of the office of the chief clerk, declined, adding that he preferred making a statement personally to Secretary Windom.

The nature of that explanation could not be learned, nor could it be ascertained whether it would be embodied in the forthcoming report. It is stated further that the report will contain nothing calculated to injure the character of Senator Sherman.

There are some who claim that the report is delayed because it is passing through the "doctoring process."

The Apostle of Greenbackism.

Among the noted visitors at the National Capital may be mentioned Col. H. Martin Williams, of Missouri, the great apostle of Greenbackism in the West, who was to-day upon the floor of the Senate, making the acqu
